Postal Holiday Poor Judgement

It is hoped that President Nixon's judgement will be better in 1970 than it was at Christmastime when he gave postal employees, together with all federal employees, an extra day off.

With mail at a record volume and running seven days late in some instances, it just didn't make good sense to add to the delay by making Christmas a half-week holiday.

He would have served postal patrons better if he had given postal employees a day off when the mail pressure would not have been so high.

Proof of the unhappy situation is the number of Christmas cards, and other mail, due Christmas Eve or before, that came on the post office half-day — Saturday.

A better way of giving an extra day's holiday — one that would have served the GOP image even better — would have been to have given it on Groundhog Day or State of the Nation Message Day.

Smog Control Inroads Made

It's a bitter battle but they're making gains on smog.

The gain is particularly noticeable in Los Angeles — the centering point of smog — where the problem first created national attention.

A drive to reduce hydrocarbon pollutants in the L.A. basin started almost a decade ago and it is hoped that the pollutant quotient will be reduced to the 1940 level by 1976.

As a comparison, in 1966, 1,800 tons of pollutants were injected into the Los Angeles atmosphere every day. It is 1,370 tons today — a reduction of 430 tons.

A study, released by the Automotive Manufacturers Association at the recent Governor's Conference on California's Changing Environment, is thoroughly optimistic.

A basic premise in the study insists that five 1970 cars produce no more hydrocarbon emissions than one 1960 model.

The output of smog-forming hydrocarbons will continue to decline as older model autos are replaced by controlled models, it is reported.

Many 1970 model automobiles control 80 per cent of vehicle hydrocarbon emissions, it is said. These emissions are the key ingredients of photo-chemical smog formations. Legally, oxides of nitrogen control is scheduled to start in 1971.

The study seems to refute San Diego County's Health Director J. B. Askew's premise—that local grass and trash fires contribute to the air pollution problem.

Breakthroughs in the problem are being sought on many fronts. Recently a new type of fuel was being eyed as a partial solution. The fuel, a gasoline with an additive, has not been proven yet.

New types of engines, better controls, another type of power yet to be discovered in the future concern the automobile engineers involved in the smog problem.

Some auto hydrocarbon control facts are:

Crankcase controls installed on 1961 cars in California are reported to have cut hydrocarbon output by 20 per cent.

Exhaust controls introduced on 1966 model cars brought two-thirds controls of emissions from this source.

Control of evaporative losses from fuel tanks and carburetors on 1970 models in California (and nationwide in 1971) will bring control to 80 per cent of present potential.

The decline in pollutants is scheduled to continue into the 1980's by way of better controls. Another form of power might decrease it even more.

The AMA report points out that hydrocarbon reduction could be accelerated in the Los Angeles basin by a combination of modifying gasoline to cut evaporation, tuning-up all cars to manufacturers' specifications and installing crankcase controls on all unequipped cars. These things would mean a further reduction of about 335 tons daily from the present 1,370 ton level in Los Angeles today.

Stressing the need for continued air chemistry research, AMA's report reveals that measuring the precise makeup of the atmosphere and analyzing atmospheric chemical reactions is still too big a job for present technology.

Dozens of research projects are now underway to do this job including projects to construct mathematical models of the L.A. climate, air shed and pollution sources.

Such models, when used with computerized data, would aid in analyzing polluting material and suggest methods of reducing it before it is converted to smog.

Whatever the success of any of these projects, one thing is certain: automotive hydrocarbon output will never be as high again as it is today!

Water District To Face Sups

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A request of the Otay Municipal Water District for capacity in the ocean outfall line of the Spring Valley Sanitation District was questioned sharply Monday by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board was not in a position to act on the Otay request. The supervisors are the directors of the sanitation district, but were not in session as the board of directors.

They will meet as the sanitation board next Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 9:30 p.m.

The Calavo Garden section was annexed to Otay after a series of hearings (instead of the Spring Valley Sanitation District), but later the state Regional Quality Control Board refused Otay permission to install a water reclamation plant without at least an emergency ocean outfall.

Second District Supervisor Henry A. Boney said that a number of residents have signed a petition for de-annexation from Otay in favor of Spring Valley.

This petition is tentatively set for hearing before the Local Agency Formation Commission in early February. The Otay district is an advocate of water reclamation, a process not universally acclaimed, although widely discussed.

Boney, whose district includes Calavo Gardens, is apparently ready to ask cost questions about a combination reclamation plant and capacity rights.

SV Youth Arrested For Theft

A Spring Valley youth was arrested last week and booked in County Jail as a suspect in the theft of a diamond ring valued at $1,500.

The suspect was 19-year-old Manuel Julian Palmer of 9849 San Cristobal rd.

He is suspected of taking the 1 1/4-carat ring plus other valuable items.

The items were the property of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Mulalley of 4515 Third st., La Mesa.

The couple reported the theft Dec. 18 and told police that Palmer was hired to help them move Nov. 23 and 24.

The ring is still missing.

Stock Dividend Declared By 1st National Bank

The board of directors of Southern California First National Corporation at its December 22 meeting declared a 10 percent stock dividend payable on February 15 to shareholders of record January 20.

Payment of the stock dividend is subject to the approval of the California Commissioner of Corporations.

In addition, the board declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 17 1/2 cents per share, payable February 1 to shareholders of record January 20.

SCFNC is a one-bank holding company whose principal subsidiary is the 50 office Southern California First National Bank headquartered in San Diego.

C. C. Blakemore, president and chief executive officer of SCFNC, said that it is the board's intent to continue the same regular quarterly cash dividend of 17 1/2 cents per share on the increased number of share.

According to figures recently published by the American Bankers Association, Southern California First National Bank ranks in the top one percent in deposits among the more than 14,000 commercial banks in the United States.

Public Resents Open Burning, Says Askew

The people of San Diego County are expressing growing resentment at local sources of smoke and odors that are polluting the air.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health and air pollution control officer for the San Diego County Air Pollution Control District, said that calls from the public protesting air pollution have more than doubled since July. As many as 40 complaints have come in about smoke from a single fire.

"The public has apparently become much more conscious of air pollution sources since the restrictions on open burning became effective last July," Dr. Askew said.

Noticeable smoke emissions have been reported as coming from the construction industry and commercial operations.

"County residents can help the Air Pollution Control District immeasurably by calling attention to operations that appear to be polluting the sky," Dr. Askew said.

"If persons do this, each potential source of pollution can be investigated. The Air Pollution Control District will then have the opportunity to explain the law in detail and work with businessmen in finding the most practical way to comply."

Dr. Askew said persons wishing to report apparent sources of air pollution should call the Air Pollution Control District at 239-7711, Extension 631.

He said every private citizen can also help by complying with the air pollution control regulations and the purpose behind them. He gave this summary of the regulations:

Effective July 1, 1969, open burning is restricted at elevations under 2,000 feet on the coastal slope of the county. It must be done only in an approved multiple chamber incinerator. Exceptions are made for certain agricultural operations, fire fighting training and fire prevention, and the disposal of certain types

PHEW — With mail soon to return to normal proportions, postal workers were more than ready for a breather. Here, Richard Deane boxes letters at the Lemon Grove branch. Lemon Grove postal workers handled an estimated 1,250,000 pieces of mail, both in and out, a rough figure that may need to be revised upward after more study. The figure covers the period from Dec. 1 through Christmas Day. Spring Valley workers handled approximately 765,000 pieces of mail from Dec. 1 to Dec. 26.

Holly Patterson Wins Hawaii Trip

For reaching her required sales volume during the past year, Holly Patterson of Spring Valley, a District Director for Con-Stan Industries, is the winner of a trip for two to Hawaii.

Mrs. Patterson began her Con-San career as a Sales Consultant in 1968. The firm is involved in Vitamin and mineral food supplements and women's wearing apparel.

Sups Delay Action On Regional Park

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County Supervisors agreed Monday to take no further action to attempt to acquire a recreational lease at Sweetwater Reservoir.

Negotiations with the California-American Water Company have not been successful, Chief Administrative Officer Fred Morey reported to the board.

The regional park, which will serve the population of South Bay, Lemon Grove, Spring Valley and El Cajon, is one of the three highest in county priority.

Morey advised the board to wait until after the condemnation action by the South Bay Irrigation District and National City before again seeking the lease. These agencies, he said, have agreed in principle to operation of the park by the county.

The condemnation suit is scheduled to go to trial in October.

Aswegans Win SV Honors

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Aswegan, 8710 Kelso, Spring Valley, were named "Sweepstakes" winner for their original display in the annual Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Spring Valley Community Council.

The bus tour carrying the twelve area judges, friends, and families left Carman Ranch, Dec. 22, to view all the area 1st place winners and to pick a sweepstakes prize winner.

Area 1st Place Winners were: Mr. and Mrs. M. L. O'Dell, 9310 Kalua way; Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Foster, 3541 Fairway dr.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chapman, 1431 Walbollen;

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Scoppa, 9031 Koonce; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bourcecky, 9840 Estrella; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelums, 10453 San Carlos dr.;

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Aswegan, 8710 Kelso; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Distad, 3934 El Canto dr.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Calamars, 10338 Fairhill dr.;

Mr. and Mrs. McCleod, 9606 Blarney; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hamilton, 8811 Crestmore; and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Novak, 522 Worthington.

After the bus tour, Richard Allen, chairman of the event, and Mrs. Elda Carovano were host and hostess to the participants in serving coffee and doughnuts.

Supervisors Shift, Fuller's Candidate

Henry Boney is re-elected. DeGraff Austin will leave. Ron Fuller will run. Robert Cozens has another job.

It's all part of the recent action at the County Board of Supervisors.

Boney, for instance, was re-elected chairman in a secret ballot, after Supervisors Harry Scheide and Jack Walsh nominated Austin for the job.

Austin, for his part, has announced that he will not seek re-election for the board.

Fuller, an executive assistant to Boney, resigned his post there, and announced his candidacy for the Fourth District supervisor's post, to be vacated by Austin. The primary election is scheduled June 2. Fifth District Supervisor Cozens, meanwhile, left county service on Tuesday to become the director of the state Motor Vehicle Department.

As a parting gesture to the board, Cozens nominated the four remaining members for the chairman's post.

In related news, the board announced the appointment of Roger F. Honberger of West Springfield, Va., as Washington representative for the County.

Honberger, 33, will serve as a link between the Washington scene and County Government assisting Supervisors in coordination with Federal activities.

Sups Won't Reduce Mass. Speed Limit

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors on Monday refused to reduce the 30 mile an hour speed limit on Massachusetts avenue from Madera street to Imperial avenue in Lemon Grove.

The county's traffic advisory committee advised that the present speed limit through this portion of Massachusetts is the lowest that can reasonably be established.

The committee said the present prevailing speeds are above 30 miles an hour and show that without continuous enforcement even the 30 mile speed limit is only partially effective.

The majority of drivers, the committee said, feel comfortable at higher speeds.

New striping will be installed and reflective pavement markers placed as safety measures.

There have been 19 reported accidents including ten injury accidents and one pedestrian fatality during the past three years, the committee reported.

In the Vista La Mesa portion of Massachusetts avenue where the board has approved a no parking zone on both sides of the street from University avenue to Hoffman avenue, the board plans to hear from the protesting residents at 2 p.m. on Jan. 12.

The committee reported that the "no parking any time" signs will allow stopping and standing of delivery and other service vehicles.

The committee also recommended that the 24-hour parking prohibition remain.

Highlanders Still Win In Covina

Unbeaten Helix, competing in the Covina Invitational basketball tournament, stretched their unbeaten string to 29 in a row Monday night, romping over quarter-final opponent Arroyo, 92-57.

As always, big Bill Walton led the Highlanders with 26 points and 22 rebounds.

A full-court press ran Arroyo off the court in the second half, when Helix trailed 35-31 after the first half.

The last two quarters saw the Highlanders outscore their rivals, 61-22.

Mike Dupree contributed 20 points, while Mike Honz added 19, along with 14 rebounds.

The Highlanders, favorites in the tourney, were scheduled for semi-final action Tuesday night against the winner of the San Gabriel-Long Beach Milliken game.

Another local team in a Los Angeles tourney, Monte Vista, had reached the finals by Monday night.

Led by Bill Belander's 22 points, the Monarchs downed semi-final opponent Newport Harbor, 73-65.

Jim Bristol added 19, and Dan Heien, 14.

Monte Vista was scheduled to play Antelope Valley for the championship Tuesday night.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, for the week of Dec. 22-29, answered three fire calls:

Dec. 25 at 11:48 a.m. to the San Diego Convalescent Hospital at 3870 Massachusetts ave., where a small grass fire burned due to a faulty incinerator at the hospital, but no damage.

Dec. 28 at 6:05 p.m., a blast-fire in the mobil home of John Emerling, 7150 Broadway. The fire was from the oven, causing about $25 damage to the oven and surrounding kitchen, while Emerling sustained slight burns on the face and hands and was given first aid.

Dec. 29 at 4:06 a.m., a false alarm to 7895 Bryann ct.

RESCUES
Dec. 23 at 6:56 p.m., to 2617 Glebe rd., Roger Parrott, 19, was ill and sent to Grossmont Hospital.

Dec. 24 at 7:42 p.m., Carmen Lentz, 48, of 3867 Capitol st., was given oxygen for a possible heart attack and sent to a hospital.

Dec. 25 at 8:07 p.m. John Davidson, 71, of 7150 Broadway, given oxygen for a possible heart attack and sent to a hospital.

County Engineer's Post Goes To Howard Taylor

Howard M. Taylor, 56, who has spent 35 years in road engineering in Washington and the Northwest, has been appointed County Engineer, succeeding David K. Speer.

Speer has been promoted to Administrator of the County Public Works department under which the Road Department functions.

Taylor, whose new post became effective Dec. 15, is a Fellow of the Amn. Assn. of County Engineers; a former president of the S.D. Engineers Club; a national committee member of the American Public Works Assn., and former chairman of the Structural Standards Subcommittee of the County Engineers Assn. of California.

Under his direction all the new roads built in the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley areas during the past 13 years were designed.

AREA BIRTHS

The following area births were reported by Grossmont Hospital last week:

December 14 — A girl, 8 lbs., 13½ ozs., born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Howard of Spring Valley.

December 15 — A boy, 8 lbs., 8 ozs., born to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin L. Krosch of Spring Valley.

December 16 — A boy, 6 lbs., 2½ ozs., born to Mr. and Mrs. John M. Curtin of Spring Valley; a girl, 7 lbs., 6 ozs., born to Mr. and Mrs. John J. Laber Jr. of Lemon Grove.

At last report, California had 1,144 operating school districts. Of these 251 were unified districts, 719 elementary districts, 106 high school districts and 68 junior college districts.

Singers Set For TV Slot

"The Contemporaries," an eight voice singing group of teenagers from the First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove will be featured on KFMB-TV, Channel 10 Sunday, January 4 at 9:30 p.m. on the weekly color telecast, "Let There Be Light".

They will present several gospel folk and contemporary numbers. The Puppeteers, from the Lemon Grove church and directed by Gary Cato will perform and will be interviewed during the 30 minute program.

The Contemporaries' director Bill Hawes and Pastor Robert E. Kleinschmidt will participate with their youth in this Sunday morning worship program.

When settlers founded what is now Nashville it was called Nashville.

Casa de Oro Sets Service

The annual New Year's Eve service of the Casa de Oro Baptist Church, will be held Wednesday, Dec. 31, from 8:30 p.m. through midnight.

There will be games, fellowship and food. The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Cantata, "Tell It Like It Is," written by John W. Peterson, composer of many Christmas Cantatas.

The evening's Cantata will include a 60 voice Youth Choir from the Maple View Baptist Church of Lakeside. Young people from other churches around the county are expected to attend.

Following the Cantata there will be a time for short devotion and prayers of thanks to God for the year 1969. It promises to be a real highlight during the holiday activities, says Rev. Ernest Anderson, pastor.

Mrs. Marjorie Maxwell is chairman of this annual occasion.

The College-age youth and High School Seniors of the church, will be at Julian at the Baracha Camp, enjoying a retreat and fellowship. They are to leave Friday afternoon and return Sunday.

AREA OBITUARIES

Women Voters to Meet Wednesday

EL CAJON — The League of Women Voters of Grossmont-Cajon Valley will hold a general meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fletcher Hills Community Hall, El Cajon. This meeting will deal with the League's local study of parks and recreation.

Wm. C. Jasinek of the Park and Recreation Dept. of Chula Vista will be the speaker at the meeting. Chula Vista won a gold medal last year, one of 5 such awards given nationally by Sports Foundation, Inc. in their category of cities with 50,000 - 100,000 pop. for their excellence in parks and recreation management.

Jasinek will speak on what they did to win the medal and what they are doing at present in Chula Vista. He will bring some slides with him, and at the end of his presentation there will be a time for questions and answers.

All interested League members and their husbands, in addition to the general public, are invited to attend.

UC Thanks Newspaper

Dear Editor:

This year, for the first time in more than a decade, the United Crusade of San Diego County reached its goal. This great milestone was not reached through the efforts of one person or a group of people. It was achieved through the combined efforts of thousands of concerned citizens.

I am convinced that one of the major factors in our success was the excellent support given the campaign by your paper and other county news media. A massive campaign such as this is only as strong as its public information program, for only with public understanding will come public support.

We are indeed in your debt for the excellent coverage you gave the Crusade and I could not let this opportunity pass to thank you and tell you how much a part you played in the success of this year's United Crusade. With this kind of support, I know we will continue to reach our goal in future campaigns.

Sincerely,
William E. Quirk,
Chairman

'God' Is Lesson

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday is "God," and includes this definition from John: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

The public is welcome to attend Christian Science services. First Church of Christ Scientist, Lemon Grove at 7741 Pacific ave. holds Sunday services at 11 a.m.

Historical Society To Meet

The Spring Valley Historical Society will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Adobe Annex, 9065 Memory Ln., Spring Valley. President, Mrs. Thomas C. Webster will preside.

Building and grounds chairman, Bill Zable, reports the annex under improvements by helper Frank Rose, as quarters for the future Custodian.

Activities for four months were planned by the Society in the December meeting. Wednesday, January 21 at 6 p.m. is "Community Pot Luck."

Bring two dishes, one a meat dish and enough for four more servings besides your family. Bring own service, coffee will be served. All persons making a donation for the complete meal.

Program of "Slides on Travelogue" will follow supper.

Prospective Members Meet Set

EL CAJON — The League of Women Voters of Grossmont-Cajon Valley will hold a prospective members' coffee Thursday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. J. R. Shainman, 946 Garfield ave., El Cajon.

All interested women in the area are invited to attend this informal coffee. Membership in the League is open to any women over 21 years of age and citizens of the United States. This is an open invitation for any women who are interested in hearing more about the operation and purpose of the League.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose primary purpose is to inform citizens on issues of government so that they may participate with a better understanding.

There are studies on each level of government: local, county, state and national; as well as many projects to help voters learn all sides of issues facing them in local and state elections.

Anyone wishing additional information in regard to the coffee, help with transportation or baby sitting, may call Mrs. Quittner, 460-7130.

Greater San Diego now has a population of 1.3-million.

Camera Club Seats Officers

LA MESA CAMERA CLUB — At its annual installation banquet, held at the Hanalei Hotel, the La Mesa Camera Club seated Charles Mucha as president for 1970.

Emil Johnson will serve as vice-president and Fred Burkhardt will continue in his position as secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Elsie Gilham, the retiring president, conducted the installation ceremonies for the new officers and presented a resume of the activities and accomplishments of the club during 1969.

Annual awards for outstanding photography achievement were presented to members and white category, Mason Rutherford received the print of the year plaque.

For the best color slide of the year, Charles Mucha, the club's new president, received the top honor. The high points in color for the year went to Glen Dutton and the high points in prints went to Elsie Gilham.

After the presentation, the members and guests then enjoyed a travelogue presented by Ethel and Alan Foster, entitled "NOVA SCOTIA CALL".

The club will have on display some of its achievements and slides of the year, which can be seen in its new display cabinet in Porter Hall at 8425 University ave., La Mesa.

The club holds regular meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in Porter Hall at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend all club meetings and new members are always welcome.

Always and Everywhere

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is far more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

ART - MUSIC - THEATRE

Grateful Dead Make Music, Money Second

The Grateful Dead, a band of angels or Merry Pranksters, depending on how you look at them, will play in San Diego Jan. 10 at the Convention Center at 8 p.m.

The Dead, as they are affectionately known, are the antithesis of rock bands, non-commercial and independent.

The spirit of the nonconformist Dead is Jerry Garcia, who embodies as much as any one else what it is to be a rock musician.

A brilliant guitarist and an emerging songwriter and singer, Garcia's innovations have paved the way for dozens of infinitely more successful, by commercial standards, acid-rock groups.

Garcia, a former folk-singer and rocker, became involved with his group, the Warlocks, during the time of Ken Kesey's famed "Acid Tests" and "Trips Festivals" in the mid-60's.

When San Francisco became the capital of love in 1965, the City's bands washed over young ears like a tidal wave, reaping success for the Airplane, Big Brother, etc.

Garcia's Warlocks changed their name to the Dead and remained unaffected.

When psychedelia had taken a firm grip on the nation by 1967 and most groups regarded the Monterey Festival as a Godsend of publicity, the Dead were indifferent.

They complained about festival arrangements and tried to pirate some of the crowd with a nearby free gig.

All in all, they've probably played more free gigs than paid — that's their life-style. The Dead, besides Garcia, includes a half-dozen other characters that look as if they stepped out of a grade-B Hollywood motorcycle movie.

Ron "Pigpen" Kerner has moved from organ to a number of percussion instruments and still handles some of the bluesy vocals.

Bob Weir, on rhythm guitar, and Phil Lesh, bass, combine with Garcia to make up the musical core of the Dead's corebun.

The group's percussion results from the interaction of a pair of drummers, Bill Kreutzman and Mickey Hart. Kreutzman plays the rhythm of the earth, according to Hart.

Tom Constanten, not far removed from a hitch in the Air Force, has joined the band at organ.

It's a band of individuals, not a group. A musical core, but not a sound. An identity but not an image.

Call it acid-rock, but to the Dead it's only music — no barriers of time or context — just instant good vibes. That's the Dead.

Ice Show Salutes Nation's Holidays

A spectacular salute to the holidays, most all of them, is the format for Holiday on Ice's 1970 show.

The ice revue's 25th anniversary edition will be at the San Diego International Sports Arena Jan. 20-25.

The 25th anniversary is the inspiration for the show theme. The cast offers a salute to the anniversary at the offset and then glides into scenes of New Year's, Valentine's Day, April Fool's Day, Easter, Fourth of July, Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas. A Holiday in Rio and a Roman Holiday are thrown in for good measure.

Tickets are priced at $5.50, $5, $4, $3 and $2.

Some of the rocks brought back to earth from the moon are believed by scientists to be 3.5 billion years old.

At that point Dan had laid out-of-pocket $380,000. He had installed the hockey world's lushest dressing rooms (including wall-to-wall carpeting) in Salt Lake's new $19½ million Salt Palace; had just purchased a flock of young but unseasoned players for whom he was on the hook for one or more years of salary contract commitments; had established Western Hockey League's first player pension plan, and was facing an expenditure of an additional $320,000 to get the Eagles through their first season.

But Dan had grown to love the game as a spectator and his newly acquired players, all in whom he takes a paternalistic interest. Financial return, he opined, could come later.

But it came sooner than he expected.

USIU Sets 3 Productions

United States International University's School of Performing Arts has scheduled two new works and a George Bernard Shaw comedy for presentation during its winter quarter, it was announced by Gordon Hilker, Director of the School.

The three productions are: "The Witch and The Rose," for the Children's Theatre; George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and The Man," and an original faculty-written musical comedy, "Meeting at The Sphinx."

Based on a Grimm's fairy-tale, "The Witch and The Rose," has been dramatized especially for children by Nola Roeper, third-year acting major at the School of Performing Arts.

It will be the next Theatre for Children production and is scheduled to open Saturday Jan. 31. It will run on consecutive Saturdays — two performances: 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. — throughout the quarter. SPA acting major Billy Gene Ross is directing.

"Arms and The Man" will open for six performances Feb. 3. Shaw's comedy of manners will be directed by SPA faculty member Asaad Kelada, who teaches directing.

The SPA faculty members, Dennis Turner and Glenn Block, have written a musical comedy, "Meeting At The Sphinx," based on Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra." Turner, instructor in speech, wrote the book and lyrics. Block, instructor in double bass and theory and history of music, has composed the score.

All performances, except the children's shows, begin at 8:30 p.m. at USIU's Center for the Performing Arts, 350 Cedar St.

Casting for all three productions will be announced after the winter quarter begins, Jan. 5.

He roots for the Salt Lake Golden Eagles because his brother, Dan Meyer, a well-to-do mining consultant there, is the team's owner. Dan is also the mother and father of the team since he founded the 1969 expansion team.

After the opening set of games attendance skyrocketed. The 10,915 seat Salt Lake Palace was sold out three times before Christmas. At present, Dan said, attendance is 22.4 per cent ahead of the projected figures he developed before the birth of the team.

Some of that success is Dan's. He makes more than a dozen speeches on hockey each week and loves it. He's that enthusiastic.

His team, comprising mostly Canadians, is hard hitting and as enthusiastic as Dan is. That may account for the seven players with broken bones. The team has not been a winning team, however. It has won only five games so far. It beat the Gulls in the opening game; tied the Gulls and then lost the third game Sunday.

But when the draft comes this summer the expansion team will have first choice advantages.

Dan says he'll pluck a couple of mature, experienced athletes in the draft to season his group of youngsters and next the Eagles, he says, will be the contenders for leadership.

Financially, Western Hockey League rules are tough on expansion teams. The Eagles draw no income while on the road. The home team keeps it all. The rule was designed to protect established teams with name players, high payrolls and expensive promotional projects from having to share its home game receipts with a Johnny-come-lately team having only a grab-bag roster of unknown players.

It costs Dan $5,375 each day his team is on the road. This includes $20 a day a player for food of which Dan demands that $6 be spent at noon on steak.

Another first year hazard is setting up a dependable schedule of transportation. The visiting team faces an automatic $10,000 fine if it fails to show up for a game provided some sort of transportation — taxicabs, horses, dogsled whatever — was available. A 24 hour advance notice is the only escape valve and sudden storms do not always give that much warning. But it is a worry for a new team not yet fully experienced in dealing with transportation systems.

Praises Gulls

The Golden Eagles operation is the best in the league Dan says, with the Gulls being a possible exception. He is an ardent admirer of Gull Coach Manager Max McNab and he considers Gull's sportscaster Ron Oakes and publicist Reed Nessel among the top in the business.

He admires and respects all hockey players — particularly his own.

"These boys have a fierce pride. They go out on the ice only to win. They are well disciplined. They have to be to tolerate the severe pain that comes with high-speed body contact. These boys are more intelligent and better-educated than those in many other sports. That makes communication and friendship easier," Dan said.

He has the same respect for everyone around him. When we lunched with Dan, and his brother Arthur, at Anthony's Grossmont Grotto the day before the game, Dan said something about brother "Artie" that established in our mind that Dan's high sense of human values.

"Artie," he said, "is not only my favorite brother but also the best friend I have."

"Artie" smiled and nodded. You just don't find that sort of family relationship every day.

Financially, Western Hockey League rules are tough on expansion teams. The Eagles draw no income while on the road. The home team keeps it all. The rule was designed to protect established teams with name players, high payrolls and expensive promotional projects from having to share its home game receipts with a Johnny-come-lately team having only a grab-bag roster of unknown players.

It costs Dan $5,375 each day his team is on the road. This includes $20 a day a player for food of which Dan demands that $6 be spent at noon on steak.

Another first year hazard is setting up a dependable schedule of transportation. The visiting team faces an automatic $10,000 fine if it fails to show up for a game provided some sort of transportation — taxicabs, horses, dogsled whatever — was available. A 24 hour advance notice is the only escape valve and sudden storms do not always give that much warning. But it is a worry for a new team not yet fully experienced in dealing with transportation systems.

Praises Gulls

The Golden Eagles operation is the best in the league Dan says, with the Gulls being a possible exception. He is an ardent admirer of Gull Coach Manager Max McNab and he considers Gull's sportscaster Ron Oakes and publicist Reed Nessel among the top in the business.

He admires and respects all hockey players — particularly his own.

"These boys have a fierce pride. They go out on the ice only to win. They are well disciplined. They have to be to tolerate the severe pain that comes with high-speed body contact. These boys are more intelligent and better-educated than those in many other sports. That makes communication and friendship easier," Dan said.

He has the same respect for everyone around him. When we lunched with Dan, and his brother Arthur, at Anthony's Grossmont Grotto the day before the game, Dan said something about brother "Artie" that established in our mind that Dan's high sense of human values.

"Artie," he said, "is not only my favorite brother but also the best friend I have."

"Artie" smiled and nodded. You just don't find that sort of family relationship every day.

Advantages Coming

But when the draft comes this summer the expansion team will have first choice advantages.

Dan says he'll pluck a couple of mature, experienced athletes in the draft to season his group of youngsters and next the Eagles, he says, will be the contenders for leadership.

Southland's Parent Group Acquires Fairfield Firm

SAN DIEGO — Plans to acquire Solano Savings and Loan Association, Fairfield, Calif., were announced by Imperie Corporation of America, third largest of the nation's savings and loan holding companies. It owns Southland Savings in Lemon Grove.

Terms of the acquisition call for the exchange of approximately 200,000 shares of ICA common stock for all of the outstanding guarantee stock of Solano.

Solano, which commenced business in 1961, has assets of $14 million, loans outstanding of more than $12 million and savings accounts aggregating approximately $11 million. It

Ex-Senator Clark Speaks To UCSD

Former Pennsylvania Senator Joseph S. Clark, president of United World Federalists, will speak on "Beyond Vietnam" at noon, Thursday, January 8, in Revelle Plaza at the University of California, San Diego.

The lecture, sponsored by the Campus-wide Coordinating Committee for Special Programming, is free and open to the public.

Clark was elected president of the United World Federalists by the 72-member National Council last March. The nationally known Democrat succeeded James G. Patton, who had been president of UWF for two years.

Clark was elected to the United States Senate in 1956 and re-elected in 1962. Prior to that office, he was elected City Controller of Philadelphia and, in 1951, was the first Democrat to be elected Mayor of Philadelphia in 67 years.

While in the Senate, Clark's committee assignments led him to specialize in manpower, unemployment, poverty, housing, education, foreign relations, and Congressional reform. His record in seeking ways to set up the machinery for peaceful settlement of conflicts is well documented, particularly his role as a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Hussey, Hopper, Mayvin, Becky, Bands Top Year

TOP NEWS-MAKER was the Monte Vista High School band, who kept alive a local tradition by winning the Autumn Band Review and the right to represent San Diego County in the Rose Parade. Last year's band entry was the Mt. Miguel High ensemble.

AGE had its day when 96-year-old Joseph Mazer celebrated his birthday in the Monte Vista home. He entertained guests by leading them in song.

YOUTH had its say in the fall months of the year when millions of peace marchers nationally, and thousands closer to home, made "moratorium" a national by-word. Local high-schools and colleges figured in the demonstrations. (Photo by Marc Lieberman)

TROUBLE reached the outer fringes of Lemon Grove this summer when a riot in South-east San Diego spilled over into looting of a Highlander store in College Grove. Here, a workman repairs the damage. (Photo by Pete Smith)

HONORED after years of public service was Judge Luther Hussey, who retired this year. Here, publisher Max Goodwin congratulates Hussey at a luncheon in his honor.

SUCCESS STORY was written by local boy Dennis Hopper. A journeyman actor for year, Hopper finally had a chance to do what he wanted — make a movie himself. With Peter Fonda's help, "Easy Rider" became one of the year's biggest hits and made Lemon Grove boy Hopper a millionaire.

FUTURE was insured by these area men who strived to get plans underway for the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove YMCA. Here, Bill Mess, Ed Goodbody, Bill Bidwell, Stuart Taylor and Bill Fitzpatrick get together.

HEAD START took to the skies, as this Golden Ave. youngster enjoyed his first ride on a jet plane.

CLUBS had a place in the news of 1969. The Lemon Grove Kiwanians, for example, had projects such as the annual apple sale and the annual Kids Day parade (above).

Beauty Had Its Place In 1969 News

MISS LEMON GROVE was Mayvin Myers, a pretty blond, here posing with Les Reid of Topper's Burning T.

MISS SPRING VALLEY was Monte Vista senior Becky Christensen, a typically active high-schooler. Here, she models an outfit for a school fashion show.

MIGUEL'S QUEEN was Candy O'Brien. She was chosen this fall's homecoming queen from among five finalists. (Photo by Marc Lieberman)

HOLIDAYS were celebrated in fine fashion, with thanks to the Old Time Days Committee for sponsoring an old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic.

Billy Joe Highlights Year's Sports

IN THE HEADLINES was the Lemon Grove Jr. High band, here marching in the Kiwanis Kids' Day parade. A uniform drive by the youngsters finally was close enough to the goal, after 10 years, to order new outfits.

DIRECTOR Harry Weisgerber of the band, spearheaded the money-making efforts, along with the Band Parents. Here, Weisgerber accepts a check for $500 as the winner of a contest conducted by the Southern California 1st National Bank. Bank vice-president Frank Shughrue (right) hands over the check.

ENTERPRISING was the junior high youngster, Alan Michael, who restored the shoe-shine stand to Lemon Grove, earning quarters for school clothes.

WELCOME ADDITION to the community was the new La Presa Junior High School, here accepting students for the first time.

CONTROVERSIAL was the Rockets' Don Kojis. His floor play, which led him to be selected to the West All-Stars was overshadowed only by his contract hassles. First, he decided to sit it out, demanding a raise, and later he agreed to an extension of his old contract — or something like that. The Rockets, off to a slow start, got a new coach in Alex Hannum, who relieved Kojis of his captaincy and had the team hustling.

SUMMER FUN included Bobby Sox softball games. Here, Spring Valley's Dawn Dziabiak tries to out-run a slow roller.

BEST ATHLETE of 1969 was Mt. Miguel's Billy Joe Winchester, a three-sport star. Winchester, a husky, 230-pounder, broke all manner of records in track, starred in wrestling and shored up the Matador football team. His track accomplishments, recorded while still a junior, included a toss of 62-2 1/4 in the shot and 180 feet in the discus. His discus mark is a county record, while his mark with the shot is third best. He holds Miguel's school records and various league, track and meet records as well.

FIRST was Helix runner Ed Mendoza, who led the Highlanders to the CIF cross-country championship with his first-place finish. Mendoza was also an excellent two-miler in the spring, recording a 9:10.

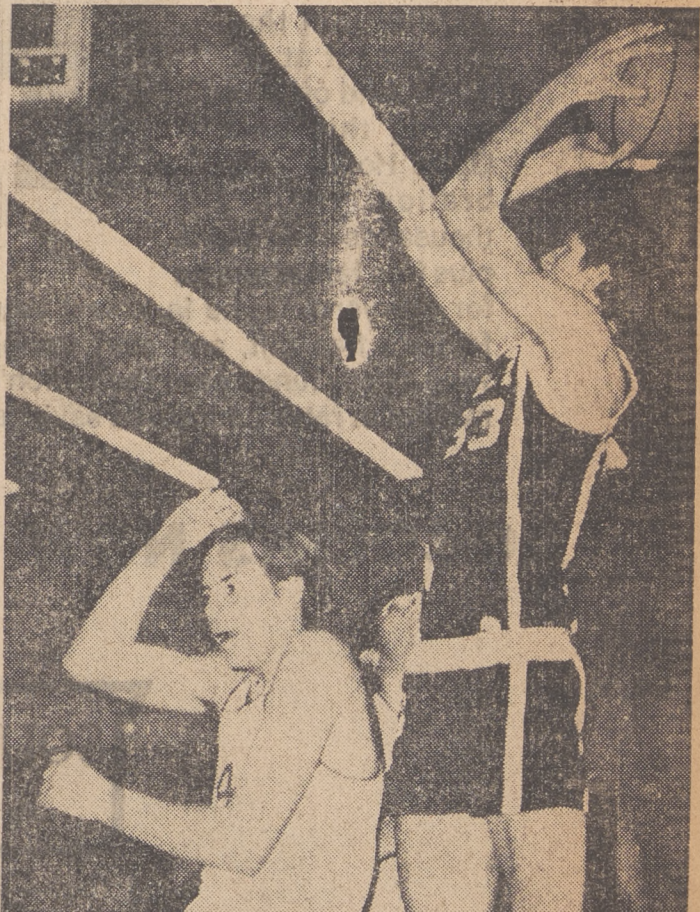

HERO was Monte Vista halfback Vince Campoli, whose tough running got the Monarchs off to a fast and hopeful start. Campoli later injured a knee and the team slumped.

RECORD-SETTER was the Chargers' Lance Alworth, who caught an historic pass against Buffalo in the last AFL game of all-time. The catch kept alive Alworth's streak of having caught at least one pass in each of 96 consecutive games, breaking a mark set by Green Bay's Don Hutson in the early years of pro football.

RETIRED was the Chargers' Ron Mix, one of the original Los Angeles Chargers. The ex-USC star, a perennial all-AFL pick at offensive tackle, called it a career and plans to pursue political ambitions. His jersey, No. 74, was retired.

OVERPOWERING was Helix' center Bill Walton, a 6-10 1/2 star. Walton led the Highlanders to the CIF championship in 1969 as a junior and this season already has the team off to a 10-0 start that includes a Kiwanis Tournament championship.

CHAMPIONSHIP of Spring Valley was at stake in this cross-country match between Mt. Miguel and Monte Vista. Monarchs won this race by a point but later finished behind the Matadors in the county finals, as the teams finished third and second. Here, Gilbert Arroyo, Bob Morrison, Tom Lux and Gary Heiserman pace the pack.

Five Area Students Win Speech Honors

Five area students were among those two dozen Grossmont district students who won honors in the annual San Diego State College Forensics Tournament held recently.

They were among approximately 350 participants from all over San Diego County. About one hundred district students from five schools took part in the tourney.

The Helix High speech team took top honors winning the sweepstakes award in the competition. Ten Helix students placed in five events.

Among Helix winners was Wanda Nelson, who was third in beginning debate.

She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nelson, 3187 Citrus in Lemon Grove.

Chris DeGaetano was fourth in women's advance extemporaneous speaking. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasqual DeGaetano, 2752 New Jersey in Lemon Grove.

The Mount Miguel speech team had two finalists, Don Carlson, sixth place in extemporaneous speaking and Karen Segawa, fifth place in original oratory.

Carlson is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Reginald Carlson of 2110 Dayton dr. in Lemon Grove. Miss Segawa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Segawa of 7655 San Miguel in Lemon Grove.

Michael Lasley was the lone finalist from Monte Vista High with a tie for fourth place in mens' impromptu speaking, beginning division.

He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lasley, 10051 Sierra Bonita, Spring Valley.

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Is there a Spanish equivalent to our English comparisons of "good, better, and best?" If so, would you please give some examples and show how they might be used in some simple phrases.

The Spanish word for "good" is "bueno." "Better" is translated "mejor" and "best" is "el mejor." Thus we could say "bueno, mejor, el mejor" for "good, better, best." You will note that the addition of the article "el" (the) changes the meaning of "mejor" (better) to "el mejor" (the best).

In reference to products advertised in Spanish newspapers, "el mejor" (the best) is a popular description. For example, an advertisement might state "Nuestro producto es el mejor." for "Our product is the best."

The opposite to "bueno" is "mal" (bad). Comparison of "bad, worse, the worst" would be translated "mal, peor, el peor."

In the case of "grande" (large), the comparative form "mayor" (larger) is used. The superlative is "el mayor" (the largest). Thus we might say "El es mayor" for "He is larger." Also, "El edificio es el mayor" for "The building is the largest."

Example phrases below use variations of some Spanish adjectives in their comparative forms. You may wish to practice saying them with the aid of the recorded voice which will say each word and phrase for you when you dial 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES: Say "Es el mejor." (he is the best) ehl meh-HOHR) for "It is the best." Say "Cual es mejor?" (koo-AHL ehs meh-HOHR) for "Which is better?"

USEFUL PHRASES: Say "Cual es el peor?" (koo-AHL ehs ehl peh-OHR) for "Which is the worst?" Say "Todos son malos." (TOH-thohs sohn MAH-lohs) for "All are bad."

OTHER PHRASES: Say "Cual tamano es grande?" (koo-AHL tah-MAHN-yoh ehs GRAHN-deh) for "Which size is large." Say "Aquel es el mayor." (ah-KEHL ehs ehl mah-YOHR) for "That (one) is the largest."

The Mukai brothers mobile home request was denied repeatedly by county planners.

Local Episcopalians started a drive to raise cash to buy the Old St. Paul's church.

Lemon Grove was named by planners for Community Planning.

Local boy Dennis Hopper was on hand for the area premiere of his movie, "Easy Rider," one of the year's biggest hits.

OCTOBER Judge Luther N. Hussey was honored on his retirement with a luncheon at the Kona Kai.

Lemon Grove's Chamber of Commerce began a membership drive.

A citizen's planning committee was discussed.

Kiwanians sold apples. Large numbers of area youth became involved in the first Moratorium, both protesters and counter-protesters.

A woman, Mrs. Katharine Hardacre, was struck by a car on a Massachusetts ave. crosswalk and later died.

NOVEMBER Civic leader Chan Mason was killed in an auto accident. Mt. Miguel High named their homecoming queen, She was Candy O'Brien, chosen from among five finalists.

Grossmont High trustees moved more cautiously in drug expulsions after a court ordered one student reinstated.

The SD Teachers Assn. canceled a proposed walkout.

The second Moratorium involved many from this area in a downtown San Diego march.

DECEMBER Santa arrived at College Grove, delighting hundreds of youngsters.

Supervisors put all unzoned county land under their zoning control.

CTA supported a move to lower the voting age to 18.

Helix High's magnificent basketball team remained unbeaten and won the Kiwanis Tournament with little opposition.

A pre-Christmas fire destroyed three cars and a garage at the Broadway Apartments on Massachusetts ave.

Spring Valley in 1969

Came January and Mt. Miguel High School band was in the Rose Parade.

Then a Grossmont Hospital Expansion Plan was urged. And the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District expected a $60,000 refund from the State. And plans were discussed for a YMCA in Spring Valley.

Then in early February the S.V. Fire Department planned part in a county-wide radio system.

About the same time bail was refused a Spring Valley man in a murder case. And Monte Vista High students planned funds for a memorial for grads who died in the service.

Later feeling were expressed in the La Mesa-Spring Valley tax override issue.

March and high school expansion was needed. Then Ruth Stewart of the main S.V. Post Office, retired after 22 years. And along came setting the day for the 1969 "Miss Spring Valley" contest, April 16. Then officials planned curriculum for the new La Presa Junior High School. And ground was broken for the proposed YMCA. Then candidates for the Junior College Board expressed themselves, while 6 candidates vied for the Board of the LM-SV School District.

Mid-April and trustees were seated, while the override won. Then Rebecca Christensen was named "Miss Spring Valley of 1969," and eligible to compete in the "Fairest of the Fair" contest.

Came May and service was tightened by the S.V. Fire Ambulance. And Emercor School children sought funds for a school overseas. Then a "big" narcotics raid trapped 6 in Spring Valley.

Then the Grossmont High School District eyed $1.80 tax rate. And the S.V. Kiwanis Club reported "good" rose sale.

Early June and a S.V. man was killed watching a gang fight. And a school bus overturned, with little injuries.

And "Miss Spring Valley" was competing for "Fairest of the Fair."

Mid-June and Roy Williams was elected president of S.V. Kiwanis Club, and rezoning was approved for La Presa. Then the "Head Start" program began. Summer activities were set for Valley youth.

Early July and Dr. Herman Rauch was seated as president of the S.V. Rotary Club. Many participants in Jamul took top awards in the Del Mar Fair. The "Keep Spring Valley Beautiful" campaign began. And pay hikes were granted LM-SV School administrators. Then a 400 mobile home park was held up by the Planning Commission. Then a Jamul couple were fined and jailed for horse stealing.

Came August and Monte Vista High students took part in an archeology program. And the S.V. Fire Board election was set. Then the Cajon de Oro Little League (baseball team) All Stars were just one step from the series. And the Brookside drainage was to be improved.

Early September and a big "shakeup" was announced for personnel of the LM-SV School District. And students of Monte Vista High expressed need for a swimming pool. Then the mobile home request for Sweetwater rd. was again turned down.

Mid-Sept. and Grossmont College considered a second site. And later County supervisors affirmed planning for Spring Valley. And a S.V. home was almost destroyed by vandals.

Early October and the Monte Vista High School PTA announced it would give opportunity to students to participate in the program. Then a date (Oct. 11 and 12) was set for the Spring Valley Pageant (part of the history of Spring Valley). Then after being "burned out" the S.V. Welfare Inc. set a date to reopen its "Thrifty Shop" on Sweetwater rd. and engineers prepared to improve the Brookside ditch. Then the Monte Vista marching band was assigned to the Rose Parade.

Early November and S.V. saluted veterans with a parade. And a 203 space mobil park was o.k'd for Sweetwater rd. Then Grossmont Trustees moved in drug expulsions. And the La Presa rezone was on tap. Finally the speed limit was set at 45 m.p.h. on Sweetwater rd.

For complete information on any course offered during the winter quarter, phone University Extension and request a copy of Explore, the quarterly listing all the classes. Registration is open now through the first week of classes.

Came December and "Jolly Old St. Nick" was beginning to appear and shoppers to crowd the stores. The Spring Valley Community Council set its annual Christmas lighting contest. Then holiday programs were in order at the schools. S.V. Rotary Club contributed $100 to Monte Vista band. Mr. and Mrs. "Santa Claus" did their "thing" several times, with the help of the Spring Valley Woman's Club.

Then it was "Merry Christmas and Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward all Mankind."

UC Lists Extension Courses

Astrology to zoology, man's future and his past, alcoholism and yoga... all reflections of the myriad of courses offered by University of California Extension beginning the week of January 5.

More than 200 courses will be held in 43 locations throughout San Diego County during the winter quarter, which will last until early March.

All of the courses are open to the public, though some have pre-requisites. Most courses offer university-level credit.

New courses scheduled during this quarter include "Survey of American Antiques," "What is the Future of Man?," "The Politics of Education: Who Rings the School Bell?," "Occult Traditions: Alchemy and Astrology," "Humanistic Education in Action," "Toward a World Society: Sovereignty or Survival," "Alternatives to Violence," and "The Divorced Person."

Four one-day conferences are sprinkled throughout the quarter — Jan. 10, "The Physical Value of Hatha Yoga"; Jan. 31, "Sleep and Dreams"; Feb. 14, "The Controversial Contraceptive: The Truth About the Pill"; and March 7, "The Middle East: Causes for War and Prospects for Peace."

Charger Ticket Prices Raised

A $1 increase for most reserved seats at San Diego Stadium for 1970 games of the San Diego Chargers was announced by the Chargers.

Seats, which cost $6 and $4.50 in 1969, will be priced at $7 and $5.50 in 1970. Press level seats remain at $1.00.

There will be a 50 cent raise for general admission seats from $2.50 to $3. Youth seats remain at $1.50.

General Manager Sid Gillman said the raise in ticket prices, first in four years by the Chargers, was necessitated by "sharply increased operating costs."

The Chargers had the lowest ticket price structure in the American Football League last season when six of the 10 clubs raised their prices," added Gillman.

Renewal offers for present San Diego season-ticket holders will be mailed Tuesday. New season tickets are available for purchase at the Chargers' main ticket office at the Lafayette Hotel, 2223 El Cajon Blvd.

In 1970, San Diego will play in the new American Conference of the National Football League as the merger between the AFL and NFL is completed. Baltimore, Cleveland and Pittsburgh are new members of the American Conference.

The Chargers are in the Western Division with their old AFL rivals Oakland, Kansas City and Denver.

San Diego will play (home-and-away) games with teams in the Western Division, five games with other teams in the American Conference and three games with teams in the National Conference.

With victories in their last four games of 1969, the Chargers are pointing optimistically to their new affiliation in the National Football League and the new decade of pro football.

Monarchs Named to CIF Team

By SCOTT MCGAUGH
Monte Vista High School senior Rob Morell was chosen recently to the San Diego Section CIF water polo team for the second straight year.

Morell, constantly the scoring leader for the Monarchs this year, was chosen as a guard last year and this year to the seven-man team.

On the CIF second squad, Gordon Dunnill, John Krattli and Brad Julihn, all of Monte Vista, were selected.

Dunnill and Krattli were selected for the second straight year to the second squad. It was Julihn's first selection to the second team.

The Monarchs were 12-4 in league battle this year and took second in the league. In the final round of the CIF Playoffs, the Monarchs lost to the Vista Panthers, 10-6 to take second place.

The Monte Vista basketball squad took third place in the Kiwanis Basketball Tournament last week by dumping the Madison Warhawks, 75-60.

The Monarchs outscored the Warhawks, 18-3, in the final half of the first period and outscored the Warhawks again in the second period to lead 41-20 at the half.

Dan Heien had his best game of the season for the Monarchs went without a full. Monarchs in scoring 21 points. Bill Belander followed with 18.

For the first time this season, the Monarchs went without a full-out press but still shot down the Warhawks for third place in the tournament.

Monte Vista will open the league season Jan. 6 against Helix at Monte Vista.

CHUCKIN' SPORTS

Basketball is becoming another sport of muscle

By Chuck Curtis

This column is being written with mixed emotions. It is the last time I shall write in this decade and, while it brings to an end nothing more than the numerical 60's, it should be filled with reminiscences of the last ten years and the exciting sports that are now history. Still, just about every other columnist will be writing on that theme so I will settle for the admission that the 60's brought the best possible change for this editor when I moved to the San Diego area.

This is really a sports mecca and I look forward to many happy decades of involvement in the area sports activities.

The mixed emotions were brought about by a recent basketball game at the Sports Arena.

The Rockets were in the process of breaking a Los Angeles Laker jinx that had lasted since Christmas day, 1967. The play was fast and furious on both sides with plenty of jostling, holding, pushing and elbowing. Suddenly, for no apparent reason, Laker guard Egan began throwing punches at the back of Rocket Jim Barnett's head. When Jim whirled to defend himself he was quickly smothered in the arms of other players who prevented a real pier six brawl.

Officials Darrell Garretson and Jake O'Donnell were in charge and called a "punching" foul. They allowed Barnett to shoot the "punching" foul and then the personal foul with the ball remaining in play.

Having never before heard of a "punching" foul I took the trouble to look in the rule book.

On Page 23, Rule 12, Fouls and Penalties, Section 8—Fighting Fouls, it reads, "A foul called against a player for punching or fighting is to be charged as a team foul and a personal foul (not a technical). However, the penalty situation does not apply and whether the foul is made or missed, the ball shall be given to the team shooting the attempt at side mid-court. It is the official's decision whether or not the offending player shall be ejected and the play shall be treated in the same manner regardless of what that decision is. NOTE—This rule applies whether the play is in progress or the ball is dead."

This brought two points to mind. First, the play continued after the shooting of the foul, when the rule clearly states the ball should have been awarded to the Rockets at side mid-court.

The second point is the section that says, "It is the official's decision whether or not the offending player shall be ejected."

This seems to this editor to be putting too much authority into the hands of the officials. I can conceive of no reason to permit any player to throw a punch and then continue to play in the game. This is especially true in the case of Egan who threw his punches at the back of Jim Barnett's head. Still it only cost a one-shot foul.

Basketball used to be a game of pure skill and great finesse. Now it is fast becoming a game of muscle.

Saturday night I watched the Rockets drop a game to the Boston Celtics. Under the boards there was a constant physical battle between the Big E and either Henry Finkel or Barnes. They took turns getting in front of one another and then leaning their full body weight back on their opponent. They spent many minutes locking each other by the elbow or holding the opponent's waist. The amount of elbowing would have put lesser athletes on the deck. Still no fouls were called.

The no harm, no foul rule was in effect and the degree of real skill involved was clearly second to the muscle power of the men. This has taken a lot of joy out of the sport for me. I feel as strongly about this as I do about the use of the intentional foul. Neither rule is fair to the fans.

I am aware that the no harm rule was put in to cut down on the amount of whistle blowing and the time lost at the free throw line, but it has gone beyond that and has eliminated many of the fine and skillful moves that characterized earlier basketball.

It was a thrill to see a player dribble down the floor, weave his way through the defenses and score without any bodily contact. Today the same player drives straight in and crashes into the opposition. Then he crosses his fingers and hopes the official will call a "block" on the defender rather than "charging" on him.

Frankly I have no idea if there will ever be a return to the older style of play but, if I were to make any wishes for the new year, that would be one wish high on my list.

May I take this space to wish you all a happy and sports-filled New Year, may 1970 see all your teams come up winners.

Padres Offer Series Film

SAN DIEGO — The San Diego Padres are making available to interested groups the official 1969 World Series film. The 30-minute sound film, produced by the major leagues, captures all the thrills and excitement of the New York Mets' World Series victory in five games over the American League champion Baltimore Orioles.

The Padres, who will face the World Champion Mets in a four-game series May 1, 2 and a doubleheader May 3, said that groups may acquire the film for showing by contacting Be Barnes, 283-4494, at the Padre offices.

Radioman Heads Course

Fred Lewis, news and public affairs director for KDEO radio, will lead a University of California Extension course beginning Monday on "Effective Public Speaking in Business and Industry."

Lewis, also the announcer at the San Diego Sports Arena and seen on local TV commercials, will deal with correct and free use of the voice, poise and eye contact, use of the telephone, job interviews, speech organization, the sales talk and group discussions in the 9-week course.

Registration for the course to be held at Roosevelt Jr. High School, is through University Extension, on the Matthews Campus, UCSD, (453-2000, Extension 2061).

Vaccination Scheduled

The annual rabies vaccination clinics for dogs, sponsored by the San Diego County Veterinary Medical Association, will be held the week of January 12, in all areas of the city and county of San Diego.

All dog owners, whose dog has not been vaccinated for 2 years and are at least four months of age, are required by law to have an up-to-date rabies vaccination.

The deadline for San Diego City and County dog license renewals has been extended so dog owners planning to renew their dog license can take advantage of these low cost clinics.

Dogs will be vaccinated with a two year vaccine for $1.50 per dog with no cost to the taxpayer.

All veterinarians working at these clinics donate their time as a public service to their community.

Displayed in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York is a small model brewery dating from the 11th Egyptian dynasty, about 2000 B.C. This shows how the Egyptians made a malt beverage from ground grain and water.

Whale-Watchers Excursions Start

San Diego's newest and largest excursion boat will begin offering close-up views Saturday of the giant California Gray Whale.

The 600-passenger "Point Loma" will depart the Broadway Pier twice daily, at 10:30 a.m. and at 2:30 p.m. Cruising out of San Diego Harbor, from Broadway Pier, Foot of Broadway, the boat will intercept the whales as they make their annual migration from the Bering Straits to Baja California.

The whales are usually within three miles of shore as they pass San Diego.

A full-grown gray whale is 35 to 45 feet long and weighs 25 to 35 tons.

The southward migration of the whales will last through mid-February and the daily Harbor Excursion trips will continue until February 28.

The cruise costs $3 for adults, $1.50 for children 5 thru 11, and children under 5 are free.

Napoleon was probably the first to refer to England as "a nation of shopkeepers."

In 1929 a pound of round steak cost only about 46 cents.

Service Notes

DONALD LENARDI

Navy Commander Donald M. Lenardi of La Mesa, is congratulated upon being awarded the Navy Letter of Commendation in ceremonies held at the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., by Capt. John G. Boniface, USN, assistant director of the college's School of Naval Command and Staff.

Cmdr. Lenardi earned the commendation for his "outstanding performance of duty" from Dec. 4, 1967 to June 18, 1969 while on the staff of Commander Naval Air Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet. The citation noted that he demonstrated exceptional competence, superior technical knowledge and outstanding foresight in managing the critically limited Pacific Fleet inventory of attack aircraft in sustaining ready forces for combat operations in Southeast Asia.

Lenardi, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lenardi of 4962 Colina dr., La Mesa, is a 1951 graduate of Grossmont Union High and attended San Diego State College.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Lyons of Lemon Grove. Lenardi is now a student in the 10-month resident School of Naval Command and Staff at the Naval War College, which is the Navy's senior level educational institution and one of the oldest colleges of its type in the world.

KENNON GARDNER

U.S. Air Force Captain Kennon J. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Gardner of 9215 Brookside cir., Spring Valley, has graduated from the Air University's Squadron Officer School at Maxwell AFB, Ala.
